As the major requires a total of 30 credits, 6 additional credits (two electives) will need to be taken. These credits can either be within the concentration or from any of the other sociology courses. In addition to the requirements listed above for Sociology major, Case Western Reserve University also requires all undergraduate students to participate in courses through the Undergraduate General Education Requirements (UGER).

Explore the changing realities around gender, work, family and sexuality and understand their consequences.

Are you interested in...

- Challenging assumptions that balancing work and family obligations are individual responsibilities.
- How have downsizing, declining wages and increasing work hours influenced families, in particular the increasing number of one-parent and dual-earner families?
- How does location in the occupational structure affect the strategies available to families providing care to young, elderly or disabled family members?
- How do couples negotiate the division of household labor?

PRE-SOCIAL WORK?

This concentration prepares students for pursuing advanced degrees in graduate studies, in professional schools, or for seeking employment opportunities in social work, public administration or non-profit management.
