STATE POLITICS AND POLICY
POSC 302/402
Spring 2006

Professor: Andrew Lucker
Location: Sears 541
Class Schedule: T & TH 1:15 – 2:30 p.m.
Office: 312 Mather House
Office Hours: T & TH 2:30-3:30 p.m. and by appointment
E-Mail: andrew.lucker@case.edu
Office Phone: 216-368-1015
Home Phone: 440-255-1795

More often then not state governments make more decisions that affect the life of an average citizen than does the federal government. In addition many professions within a state are regulated by the state government from attorneys to funeral home operators. State legislatures are also responsible for determining the proper representation of the electorate at the federal, state, and local levels. On top of the federally mandated programs that state governments oversee state governments regulate spending over a wide variety of items from road construction to public universities. These are just a few of the many components of state government that will be examined in this course.

The role of state government’s has debatably grown in importance in recent years as the federal government has turned over more of the administrative responsibilities of many federal programs to state governmental institutions. This phenomenon defined as “devolution” by political scientists will be debated in this course along with many other facets of state and federal government policy making.

In addition to the constitutional setup of state government we will examine governmental options that are unique to the U.S. states. One such example that will be discussed is the initiative, referendum, and reform which have been increasingly used by business interests, interest groups and the electorate in general in certain states to transform the very nature of state government.

Required Texts for Students

Four books will be required for this course. Copies of selected chapters from the fifth book, Ohio Politics, will be provided by the instructor.

Some additional reading will be assigned by the professor for graduate students.

Research Paper

Students are expected to complete one research paper during the course of the semester. Each student will be assigned a U.S. state to examine and will meet individually with the professor to determine the state they will research, confer on subject matter, and discuss possible research sources. Students will be expected to explain the state constitutional governmental structure in their assigned states. This should be followed by an analysis of the electoral changes in the state from 1996 to the present, an explanation of the partisan changes in the state from 1996 to the present, and an explanation of how and why these changes occurred. Each research paper is expected to be between twenty and twenty five pages in length. For graduate students the research paper should be between thirty five and forty pages in length.

Class Participation and Attendance

Each student will be expected to participate in class discussions on all topics being debated. Attendance is also expected at all classes unless excused by the professor. Class participation and attendance will determine ten percent of your grade.

Grading

Grades will be determined on the following basis:

Research Paper 30%
Midterm Exam 25%
Final Exam 35%
Attendance & Class Participation 10%

Schedule of Classes and Required Reading for State Politics and Policy

Jan. 17: Review Syllabus/Introduction to Course

Feb. 7: Politics in the American States-Chapter 1: The Socioeconomic and Political Context of States & Chapter 2: Intergovernmental Relations

Feb. 9: Politics in the American States-Chapter 3: Parties and Elections & Chapter 4: Interest Groups in the States

Feb. 14: Politics in the American States-Chapter 5: The Initiative Process & Chapter 6: Legislative Politics in the States

Mar. 2: Politics in the American States-Chapter 13: Economic and Social Regulation & Chapter 14: Economic Development and Infrastructure Policy

Mar. 7: Midterm

Mar. 9: From New Federalism to Devolution-Chapter 1: Federalism Reform and the Modern State & Chapter 2: The Origins of Nixon’s New Federalism

Mar. 11: From New Federalism to Devolution-Chapter 3: The Fragmented Politics of Block Grants & Chapter 4: The Unique Politics of General Revenue Sharing

Mar. 14: Spring Break
Mar. 16: Spring Break

Mar. 28: From New Federalism to Devolution - Chapter 7: The Implicit Federalism of Reagan’s Federalism & Chapter 8: Federal Aid Budgets and Block Grants in the 1980’s

Apr. 4: From New Federalism to Devolution - Chapter 11: Reform Interregnum: The Bush and Early Clinton Years & Chapter 12: A Devolution Revolution? Federalism in the 104th Congress

Apr. 11: Ohio Politics: Elections & Political Parties

Apr. 13: Ohio Politics: Executive and Judiciary Chapters

Apr. 18: Ohio Politics: Interest Groups and News Media
Paradise Lost: California’s Experience, America’s Future: Part 1 Introduction & Part 2 Altered State

Apr. 20: Paradise Lost: California’s Experience, America’s Future Part 2 Golden Moment & Part 2 Good-Bye El Dorado
Individual State Writing Project Due

Apr. 25: Paradise Lost: California’s Experience, America’s Future: Part 3 Mississippification & Part 3 The Spirit of 13, Discussion of Students Individual State Papers

Apr. 27: Paradise Lost: California’s Experience, America’s Future: Part 3 March of the Plebiscites & Part 4 The Next America, Discussion of Students Individual State Papers

Final Exam May 8th from 12:30-3:30 p.m.