Please submit the following by U.S. Mail, fax or e-mail to Timothy Wutrich (address below) by Wednesday, November 11th:

1. A completed registration form.
2. A 50-word description and rationale for your production (this will appear in the audience’s program)
3. A list of characters and cast members (please indicate which cast member will play which character(s)).

Format: Take Aeschylus's Agamemnon and adapt the complete work or a portion of the work to a fifteen-minute performance.

Objectives: You should aim to entertain and to instruct. The best productions will demonstrate the relevance of this ancient work to today’s audiences, make the text accessible and provocative to these new audiences, and offer modern audiences new insights into the play and themselves.

Rules and Guidelines:
1. Script MUST be ORIGINAL & written by participants (but, of course, translations/adaptations may be consulted).
2. Performances must run NO MORE THAN 15 MINUTES.
3. Masks are optional.
4. Space for performance is approximately twenty-five feet by fifteen feet.
5. Additional set pieces must be supplied by the team, be portable, and be capable of placement and removal in three minutes. (Less is more.)
6. The teams, if desired, must supply costumes. Again, see #1, please.
7. The members of any team must consist of students currently registered at the high school on the registration form.
8. The entries will be evaluated by a panel of judges based on the format and objectives outlined above.
9. Teams must supply their own a-v resources if they desire; equipment must be set up in the same three minutes as #5 and cleared away after the performance in less than three minutes.
