Assistant Professor of Movement/Acting (Tenure-Track)

The Department of Theater in the College of Arts and Sciences at Case Western Reserve University is accepting applications for an assistant professor of movement and acting (tenure-track) beginning in the 2018-2019 academic year. The position will be the primary movement specialist in the Case Western Reserve University/Cleveland Play House MFA Acting program, and also teach at the undergraduate level based on areas of expertise. Other duties include production movement coaching; advising; university, college, and department service; and the possibility of directing depending on experience. The normal teaching load is three and two on the semester system.

A Master of Fine Arts degree and experience teaching at the graduate and undergraduate levels is required. To apply, send letter of interest and curriculum vitae, and have three current letters of recommendation sent independently by the authors; please submit materials electronically to Professor Jerrold Scott, Chair and Artistic Director, at jerrold.scott@case.edu. An official transcript must be made available prior to job offer. Review of applications begins January 1, 2018.

In employment, as in education, Case Western Reserve University is committed to Equal Opportunity and Diversity. Women, veterans, members of underrepresented minority groups, and individuals with disabilities are encouraged to apply. Case Western Reserve University provides reasonable accommodations to applicants with disabilities. Applicants requiring a reasonable accommodation for any part of the application and hiring process should contact the Office of Inclusion, Diversity and Equal Opportunity at 216-368-8877 to request a reasonable accommodation. Determinations as to granting reasonable accommodations for any applicant will be made on a case-by-case basis.