

We wear the mask that grins and lies
It hides our cheeks and shades our eyes
This debt we pay to human guile With torn and bleeding hearts we smile And mouth with myriad subtleties

— Paul Laurence Dunbar

You are invited to participate in an interdisciplinary workshop on Teaching African and African American Women in Politics sponsored by the collaborative CWRU and Tri-C Voices from the Village Series

Enjoy cocktails and appetizers and meet with colleagues from different institutions and disciplines in a lively discussion on the topic.

Where: Michelson and Morley Restaurant at Case Western Reserve University located in The Tinkham Veale University Center at 11038 Bellflower Road - Wednesday, November 9, from 4:30-6:15 p.m.

Workshop facilitators

Kathryn Lavelle, Ellen and Dixon Long Professor in World Affairs, Dept. of Political Science, CWRU

Charline Effah, Award-winning writer and scholar from Gabon, educator in Paris, France

Melissa Soto-Schwartz, Assistant Professor of History and Women's and Gender Studies, Cuyahoga Community College

Cheryl Toman, Associate Professor of Modern Languages and Literatures and Director of the Women's and Gender Studies and Ethnic Studies Program

The workshop is followed by an optional guest lecture given by Charline Effah at 6:30 in Clark Hall, 206.

RSVP required to cheryl.toman@case.edu

