Women’s Liberation at CWRU: Educating, Empowering, and Creating Institutional Change from 1965 to 1972

Friday, April 6, 2018 | 12:30-2 pm
Center for Women Living Room, Tinkham Veale University Center

Student Gillian Prater-Lee will present research on the women’s liberation movement at Case Western Reserve University from 1965-1972, including activism surrounding sexual liberation, reproductive rights, the Vietnam War, and women in athletics. Panelists will discuss changes in women’s activism and representation at Case from 1965 to today. Featured panelists include:

Christine Ash, alumna and retired Vice President for Planning & Institutional Research
Tori Hamilton, CWRU Feminist Collective, undergraduate student
Colette Ngana, reproductive rights activist, graduate student

An event of the Flora Stone Mather Center for Women’s Spotlight on Women’s Research series.
RSVP to socialjustice@case.edu or 216.368.7568.
Free & Open to the Community | A light lunch will be served.