

The Comparative Politics of Women's Movements: Interests, Issues, and Strategies

The Department of Political Science presents an international series of speakers on women's movements worldwide, their various interests and issues, and the strategies that they employ to advance their goals.

Thurs.
Oct. 12

Speaker: Professor Marta Regalia, Università del Piemonte Orientale (Alessandria)

Topic: Late-stage women's suffrage in Italy

Tues.
Oct. 31

Speaker: Sofia Elverdin, PhD Candidate, Yale University

Topic: After Success: What Sustains Social Movements? Evidence from Ni Una Menos and the Abortion Rights Movement in Argentina

Thurs.
Nov. 2

Speaker: Nancy Yun Tang, PhD Candidate, Princeton University

Topic: Contemporary Chinese feminist activism

Thurs.
Nov. 16

Speaker: Adaugo Pamela Nwakanma, Postdoctoral Fellow, SNF Agora Institute, Johns Hopkins University

Topic: From BLM to EndSARS: Women's Socio-political Power and the Transnational Movement for Black Lives

Tues.
Nov. 28

Speaker: Professor Julia Margaret Zulver, Marie Skłodowska-Curie Research Fellow at the Instituto de Investigaciones Jurídicas (UNAM, Mexico) and the Oxford School of Global and Area Studies (Oxford, UK)

Topic: High-Risk Feminism in Colombia: Women's Mobilization in Violent Contexts.

All students and faculty are invited to attend via Zoom.

All meetings are held from 10:00-11:15am

For further information, please contact Scout Weber at scout.weber@case.edu

