

GRAPES - Detail

Quick Links

- ▶ Funding Opportunities - <https://grad.ucla.edu/asis/stusup/fundingop.htm>
- ▶ Fellowship Proposal Resources - <https://grad.ucla.edu/asis/infoserv/fcltycon.htm>
- ▶ Receive Award Announcements by Email - <https://grad.ucla.edu/asis/infoserv/gflist.htm>

Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) Science To Achieve Results (STAR) Fellowships for Graduate Environmental Study

Deadline	11/27/2013
Description	The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) awards 80 fellowships for graduate study leading to master's or doctoral degrees in environmentally related fields. Master's students are supported for up to 2 years and doctoral students for up to 3 years. Fellowships have helped educate new academic researchers, government scientists, science teachers, and, environmental engineers. Science to Achieve Results (STAR) fellowships are intended to help assist with costs associated with studies leading to advanced degrees in environmental sciences.
Award Amount	Up to $42,000 per year of support, including $12,000 per year for tuition and fees, $25,000 per year in a monthly stipend, and an annual expense allowance of $5,000.
Disciplines	Life Sciences. Physical Sciences. Social Sciences. School of Education and Information Studies. School of Engineering. Health Sciences. School of Public Health.
Academic Level	Prospective/Current Graduate Student.
Citizenship	Open only to U.S. citizens or permanent residents.
Requirements	Students must attend a fully accredited U.S. college or university (located in the U.S. or its territories) for their graduate studies. Students who have completed more than one year in their current master's program or more than four years in their current Ph.D. program at the time of application are not eligible to apply. Personal statement. Proposal description. Education & Relevant Experiences. Publications & Presentations. Course work. 3 letters of recommendation. Proposed research must not involve human subjects. Women, minorities, and disabled students are encouraged to apply.
Award Type	Fellowship/Grant
Contact	U.S. Environmental Protection Agency Ariel Rios Building 1200 Pennsylvania Avenue, NW Washington, D.C. 20460 (202) 343-9802 stelz.william@epa.gov epa.gov/ncer/fellow - http://epa.gov/ncer/fellow
Last Updated	9/4/2014 9:27:00 AM

Click the "Back Button" to return to the search results page or try a New Search - search.asp